Teaching Activities and Resources

Technology is a part of our teaching world. Educational Technology tools can be a valuable tool in our teaching tool belt. Here is a link to a free ebook called The 2019-20 Practical Ed Tech Handbook. There are a wide variety of educational technology tools that could be used in a language learning class and adapted to suit your educational needs.

The Facebook page of Leading ELLs has some wonderful resources. This particular resource includes YouTube clips and worksheets regarding household vocabulary and house items. A great resource for beginners.

Here are a few fun Halloween flashcards to introduce to your beginner class or even as a warm up activity for your more advanced students. The flashcards can be used for a bingo game or be printed as a handout format.

Marie Gervais has expertise in leadership and inspiring team development. Although her passion lies in building leaders, she also believes in inspiring those who lead. Her article on Finding Hope to Overcome Fear is a timely message for all.

Also with Shift Management, there is a webinar on October 16th 10:00 am MDT called Understanding and Stopping Workplace Bullying.

News from ACE

We are excited to introduce the new ACE management team: Operations Manager, Elisa Chiovetti and Academic Manager, Heather Perry. Elisa has worked for ACE for over eight years. She is now responsible for all of the behind-the-scenes work on our courses. If you need additional copies of your certificate and transcript, contact Elisa at admin@aceducation.ca. Heather has worked for ACE as a trainer, train-the-trainer and curriculum developer for over thirteen years. She is now responsible for keeping our courses up to date. If you have questions about our courses, contact Heather at info@aceducation.ca.

A big welcome to our first ACE TESOL Certificate participants in Kyrgyzstan! Renison University College, Waterloo University, has partnered to work with twelve teachers in a blended version of the ACE TESOL Certificate. The group is currently working on the online portion of the course with trainer Kim Burrell. They will complete the in-class portion of the course at the end of the year.

ACE's Dianne Tyers will be presenting at the ATESL Conference on October 18th and 19th in Calgary. And a huge congratulations to ATESL, this is their 40th anniversary!
