University of Windsor
Faculty of Education

Master of Education Curriculum

Program Details

This course-based program will enable you to examine philosophical orientations, conceptual frameworks, and research methodologies relevant to the study of policy, leadership and the theoretical and development aspects of curriculum in a Canadian and international context. The program objectives will be accomplished through the completion of nine courses, followed by the capstone course, the Final Project Seminar. This graduate program will allow you to develop your skills and knowledge to enhance your professional practice.

You will study and live in Canada for 16 months. This program includes 10 prescribed courses completed over four terms.

There will be opportunities for professional development during your studies and this may be in the form of extracurricular activities. The activities may include observations in Canadian classrooms, school site visits, meeting with school officials, and senior School Board and Ministry of Education administration. This will allow you to understand how your new knowledge and skills relate to real world situations within various educational settings. The Centre for Executive and Professional Education also arranges a number of non-academic experiences to orient you to Canada and North America.

The University of Windsor

The University of Windsor's mission is to enable people to make a better world through education, scholarship, research and engagement.

As Canada's most comprehensive university, UWindsor includes a strong emphasis on the student learning experience in its 140 undergraduate, graduate and professional programs.

Founded in 1857 as Assumption College, it was incorporated as a publicly funded university in 1963. Its programs are overseen by the Province of Ontario's Ministry of Training, Colleges and Universities. Current enrolment includes 17,000 full and part-time students who hail from more than 100 countries from across the world.

Course may include:

- Research in Education
- Qualitative Methods in Educational Research
- Fundamentals of Curriculum Theory and Development
- Comparative and International Education
- Organizational Behaviour in Educational Institutions
- Educational Policy Analysis
- Sociological Aspects of Education
- Approaches to Literacy Development
- Information and Communication Technologies
- Issues in Education
- Final Project Seminar

For more information, visit our website:
www.uwindsor.ca/internationalprograms

MC TM IMAGINE
Education au/in Canada

Admission Requirements

- Confirmation of successful completion of a Bachelor of Education (or equivalent) from an academic institution approved by the University of Windsor. Applicants with a four year honours degree in related fields may be considered
- Evidence of having obtained a cumulative grade point average in the B range overall and at least a B standing in the last two years of your academic studies (when converted to Ontario standards)
- Demonstrated English proficiency by meeting or exceeding a 7.0 score in the IELTS test or approved equivalent
- Three letters of reference (should address the applicant's ability to engage in academic work and scholarly study)
- A successful interview with a representative from the University of Windsor
- A personal statement discussing why you wish to do graduate studies in the area of educational studies and how it fits into your plan for entry into the workforce as a working professional and / or scholar

English programming is available if you need extra training prior to entry into the academic program or have received lower than the required test score. A supplementary Academic Writing course may also be required.

Enrolment is limited. Preference will be given to candidates who exceed the above minimum requirements and those who have at least one year of successful professional experience in education.

Apply

Our online application service is set up for your convenience with easy to review application information and processing. Access application information and apply online at: www.uwindsor.ca/internationalprograms

Fees

Fees cover all program costs, but do not include books, living expenses and health insurance. See our web site for the current tuition payment information and schedule or email apply@uwindsor.ca

Vibrant and Dynamic

Windsor is one of the most ethnically diverse cities in Canada and its geographic location speaks to its distinctive character. The communities near the University of Windsor are famous for their international flair and flavour - you can find dozens of international grocery stores and restaurants here. The convenient public transit system will take you where you want to go and many amenities are within a short walking distance from campus.

For more information, visit our website:
www.uwindsor.ca/internationalprograms

The University of Windsor is a public institution accredited by the Government of Ontario, Canada.

Picture Yourself Here

The University of Windsor campus is large enough to offer plenty of variety, and yet it's small enough for you to be known by name.

You will find unlimited opportunities to get involved in academic, recreational and social activities– whether to broaden your mind or your circle of friends.

The International Students Society and numerous other student clubs provide friendship and support, as well as academic, social and recreational activities.

At the St. Denis Athletic Centre, you can jog on the indoor track, swim laps in a large indoor pool or work out in our new state-of-the-art weight and exercise rooms.

University of Windsor

University of Windsor
401 Sunset Avenue
Windsor, ON Canada
N9B 3P4

T: +1.519.256.3113
F: +1.519.256.8572
E: apply@uwindsor.ca
UWinCEPE