

INTERNATIONAL TEACHING ONLINE SYMPOSIUM

June 17th and June 18th, 2021

Dear colleague,

We would like to take this time to thank you for attending the International Teaching Online Symposium. The team believes the event was a very successful and educational experience and hope you enjoyed it as much as we did. The symposium would not have been possible without your time and dedication. Thank you!

CONFERENCE PROCEEDINGS

- Extended abstracts have been collected and the team is currently going through them for minor editing. The editing team will reach out to you if there needs to be any major changes made.
- We hope to have the conference proceedings published by mid to late July. Information on how to access the proceedings will be sent out then.
- Selected papers will be chosen for the journal and book chapter. Those individuals will be contacted by Dr. Clayton Smith and Dr. George Zhou over the next few weeks.

MICRO-CREDENTIALS + STUDENT INCENTIVE DRAW

- All micro-credentials have been issued and can be found in your email inbox.
- If you signed up for a credential but did not receive one, please email symposium@uwindsor.ca
- The winners for the student incentive draw have been chosen and contacted. If you won but did not receive your e-gift card, please email symposium@uwindsor.ca

VIDEO RECORDINGS

- All the sessions from the symposium have been recorded and are now available on our YouTube channel!
- You can view our channel using the following link:

- The individual links to each session are also available on our website under the "Schedule" tab in the main menu

*NOTE: videos were edited so those who opted out of the YouTube posting were removed from the recording.

Thank you all once again! We will continue sending updates as publications become available. If you have any questions or concerns, do not hesitate to reach out!
