Updates on UWindsor Research and Innovation Guidance

The impact of COVID-19 is severe and dynamic as we all try to respond and adjust to the challenge the best we can. Please find below an update on research and innovation at the University of Windsor.

First and foremost, all our policies and actions must conform to the criteria of safety and physical distancing:

COVID-19 Information for Researchers

- Research which is conducted on-line, does not require the research to be on campus, and does not require any travel by the research team or the research participants may continue;
- All research which requires travel to campus or another site (even if only one person is travelling) must be suspended unless it meets the following criteria:
 - It is considered "Essential" as determined through consultation involving researchers and Departmental Heads or Institute Directors (or Deans where appropriate);
 - It has been approved as Essential by the Faculty Dean, and authorized for resumption as such by the Vice-President, Research and Innovation (VPRI);
 - COVID-19 research, in general, can proceed; however, any specific project needs to be approved as such by the Dean and the VPRI;
 - For designation as Essential, field research must provide satisfactory plans regarding travelling, field activities, participants, dates and schedules, emergency plans (e.g., regarding sickness), and where appropriate, approval by the hosting authority and/or community;
 - For designation as Essential, laboratory research must provide satisfactory plans regarding participants, dates and schedules, safety, physical-distancing, sanitization and disinfection of equipment and the laboratory; and
 - The details above must be updated and sent to the Dean when there are changes necessitated by circumstance; this information will be invaluable in the case of an emergency.
- Staff and students are not obligated to participate in any research activities should they deem that by doing so they would be subjecting themselves or their families to risks and have the rights to voice their concerns to the Dean; and
- Resumption of all other research activities can only occur after abatement of the impact of COVID-19 and on authorization of the President.

Please visit the COVID-19 Research and Innovation Guidance page on the Office of the VPRI website regularly for updates and information. In addition to guidance on research and innovation during the pandemic, the site also provides information and updates on changes to funding applications and timelines, funding opportunities for COVID-19 research, and community news.

We also encourage you to continue visiting the University's COVID-19 website for the latest news and developments.

ORIS support is available during the shift to essential services

The Office of Research and Innovation Services and the Office of the Vice President, Research and Innovation are open while staff work remotely. As the research community adjusts to the new situation due to the COVID-19 pandemic, we encourage you to contact us by email with any questions or needs you may have.

COVID-19 Research and Innovation Guidance

The latest updates from CIHR, NSERC, and SSHRC and other funding agencies are being posted to the VPRI website as they become available. The VPRI website will also be posting COVID-related funding opportunities.

Guidance on Research Personnel during the COVID-19 Pandemic

The Office of the Vice-President, Research and Innovation (OVPRI) is continuing the appointment of grant-funded research personnel during the COVID-19 pandemic. However, we ask that supervisors carefully consider and use the upmost discretion when appointing new and/or reappointing existing research personnel during the COVID-19 pandemic, and wherever possible and appropriate; supervisors are asked to hold off on appointing new and/or reappointing existing research personnel until the pandemic has subsided and physical distancing measures have been lifted.

In the event that supervisors need to move forward with appointing new and/or reappointing existing research personnel, they should ensure that the appointee can work remotely, contributing to research that is conducted online, and does not require travel by the appointee or research participants.

Exceptions will be considered for "Essential" research, including COVID-19-related research. Guidelines for Essential research during the pandemic are available on the COVID-19 Research and Innovation Guidance page on the OVPRI website.

In some cases, it may be necessary to delay, cancel appointments that are currently underway, or rescind research appointments that have been issued but have not yet started. If you have questions relating to the delay, cancellation, or rescinding of research appointments, please contact Amy Taylor in the OVPRI at Amy.Taylor@uwindsor.ca.

Please contact Tracy McLeod, Human Resources Manager, in the Department of Human Resources at Tracy.McLeod@uwindsor.ca with questions relating to student research appointments.

Message from the Research Ethics Board

Dear Members of the Campus Research Community,

As the context for the COVID-19 situation is changing rapidly, the REB has updated its guidelines for all research involving human participants. The important criterion that needs to be borne in mind is physical distancing:

1. All research which is conducted on-line, does not require the research to be on campus, and does not require any travel by the research team or the research participants may continue;
2. Research which requires travel to campus or another site (even if only one person is travelling) must be suspended unless it meets the following criteria:

- It is considered "Essential" as determined through consultation involving researchers and Departmental Heads or Institute Directors, and where appropriate, Deans, approved by the Dean, and authorized by the Vice-President, Research and Innovation (VPRI) (see Continuation of Research during the COVID-19 Pandemic above); and
- If Essential research requires travel, satisfactory plans regarding travelling, field activities, participants, dates and schedules, emergency plans (e.g., regarding sickness), and where appropriate, approval by the hosting authority and/or community, must be provided in writing to the Dean and updated regularly;

3. All research requiring in-person interaction must be suspended. The REB advises revising in-person data collection methods to on-line through phone or on-line platforms, if possible, taking into consideration that these methods do not increase risks to participants;

4. The REB is reviewing research related to COVID-19 as rapidly as possible; please keep in touch with the REB Chair through ethics@uwindsor.ca;

5. For any research ethics related questions, please contact the Research Ethics Board Chair, Dr. Suzanne McMurphy through ethics@uwindsor.ca or by home phone: 519-736-8722 or cell: 226-346-1425.

For animal care related inquiries, please contact John Hudson, Chair of the Animal Care Committee at jhudson@uwindsor.ca.

New Research Partnerships Website

This site will hopefully become a great resource for research partnership information and opportunities to help our local region with their research initiatives. Currently there is information on UWindsor external facing research partnerships for Industry and community partners, and internal facing technology transfer for Faculty members. The Research Partnerships website can be found under the Main UWindsor Research tab, underneath the Research & Innovation. Questions can be directed to tto@uwindsor.ca our new shared mailbox!

COVID-19 Funding Opportunities

In response to the COVID-19 outbreak, the Pivot team is making publicly available all relevant funding opportunities related to Coronavirus (COVID-19) in a single file, available for download.

Everyone with a UWindsor account has free access to Pivot. To register, visit the Pivot website, and log in using your institutional credentials.

COVID-19 related funding opportunities and other types of community resources and information will be made available to everyone by InfoEd. Accessing this information does not require a subscription or any kind of registration with InfoEd Global. The information can be accessed via this link.

New Exemplar Data Management Plans

Portage is pleased to have published several new Exemplar Data Management Plans (DMPs). These Exemplars cover a range of disciplines and research methods, highlight best practices for DMPs in those disciplines, and provide a reference point for researchers writing their own DMPs. They are actively seeking additional Exemplar DMPs from the community. If you are able to contribute to this initiative, sending an email to portage@carl-abrc.ca

The Exemplars are available on the Portage Training Resources page, under DMP Exemplars: <https://portagenetwork.ca/portage-training-resources/>

University of Windsor – SSHRC Exchange Grant - it's not just for conferences!

With academic conference travel on hold for at least the next few months, there are still ways to disseminate your Social Sciences and Humanities results and work with colleagues, user groups, and community stakeholders. Why not host a webinar? Prepare a digital performance? Create an infographic? Or even consult with the community to plan a new project? The UWT-SEG Exchange grant can also help you fund knowledge mobilization activities! With grants up to $1000 available, an Exchange grant can help you offset costs like hiring a student, renting equipment, and more! We've created an infographic of our own to help you get to know the various ways that knowledge mobilization can help you give your research a social life. SSHRC also offers guidance on what knowledge mobilization is, as well as advice on deploying it effectively.

Because knowledge mobilization can take so many forms, so can the expenses required to pull it off. We've suggested a few eligible expenses in our infographic, but a well-justified budget will be considered during adjudication if expenses are considered eligible by UWindsor research policies. The full criteria for the UWT-SEG Exchange Grant can be found online.

Knowledge mobilization can mean many different things, and the above resources aren't necessarily exhaustive. So, if you've got a great idea, why not take this opportunity to bring it to life?

Applications to the UWT-SEG Exchange Grant are due June 15, 2020, by email only to oris@uwindsor.ca.

Mitacs Globalink Research Internship \(GRI\)

The call for faculty proposals for the summer of 2021 is now open.

Professors can submit projects on <https://globalink.mitacs.ca/> until June 10, 2020, at 1 p.m. PT.

The Mitacs Globalink Research Internship is a competitive initiative for international undergraduates from the following countries and regions: Australia, Brazil, China, France, Germany, Hong Kong SAR, India, Mexico, Tunisia, United Kingdom, USA, and Ukraine. From May to October of each year, top-ranked applicants participate in a 12-week research internship under the supervision of Canadian university faculty members in a variety of academic disciplines, from science, engineering and mathematics to the humanities and social sciences.

Submitting a project can be difficult in light of COVID-19. As a result, Mitacs is extending the call for Globalink projects by two weeks. The deadline for project submissions is now June 10, 2020, at 1 p.m. PT. If you have questions or experience technical difficulties, contact helpdesk@mitacs.ca.

Industrial Postdoctoral COVID-19 Funding

In light of the current coronavirus pandemic, Mitacs is offering a one-time call for proposals to support postdoctoral fellows in helping Canada fight COVID-19 and support future economic recovery.

The new funding for postdoctoral fellows is available for one-year collaborative research projects between universities and industry or not-for-profit partners that demonstrate a strong benefit to Canada in battling COVID-19 and addressing its aftermath.

For a limited time to address the COVID-19 pandemic, eligible projects will be fast-tracked through the Mitacs approval process.

Additional financial support is available to small- to medium-sized enterprises (less than 500 employees) working to develop solutions to COVID-19. For a finite period, with a SME contribution of $15,000, Mitacs will provide a total award of $60,000 to cover the postdoctoral fellow's salary and associated research costs.

The deadline to apply for the special COVID-19 industrial postdoctoral fellowship incentives is up to May 15, 2020.
