SECTION 2 – DEFINING CREED

Section 1 of the Ontario Human Rights Code (the “Code”) provides that every person has a right to equal treatment with respect to services, goods and facilities, without discrimination because of creed, among other grounds. Under the Code, religious beliefs and practices are included under creed. Creed may also include non-religious belief systems that, like religion, substantially influence a person’s identity, worldview and way of life.

The Ontario Human Rights Commission has indicated that the following characteristics are relevant when considering if a belief system is a creed under the Code:

- The belief system is sincerely, freely, and deeply held;
- The belief system is integrally linked to a person’s self-definition and spiritual fulfilment;
- The belief system is a particular, comprehensive and overarching system of belief that governs one’s conduct and practices;
- The belief system addresses ultimate questions of human existence, including ideas about life, purpose, death, and the existence or non-existence of a creator and/or a higher or different order of existence; and
- The belief system has some “nexus” or connection to an organization or community that professes a shared system of belief.

The OHRC’s position is that a singular belief or personal preference against vaccinations or masks does not appear to be protected on the ground of creed under the Code.

SECTION 4 – RISK OF NOT BEING VACCINATED

Risks of not being vaccinated:

Remaining unvaccinated may pose a serious risk to others, particularly to certain vulnerable populations. The University has obligations to protect the health and safety of students, staff, and faculty.

You may be more likely to be exposed to the COVID-19 virus than others if you live in a group setting or participate in group activities in closed/crowded spaces where the COVID-19 virus may transmit more easily.

COVID-19 can result in severe illness. Those who are at particular risk of developing more severe disease or outcomes from COVID-19 are people:

- who are an older adult (increasing risk with each decade, especially over 60 years)
- of any age with chronic medical conditions, including: lung disease, heart disease, high blood pressure, diabetes, kidney disease, liver disease, dementia, or stroke
- of any age who are immunocompromised, including those with an underlying medical condition, such as cancer or those taking medications which lower the immune system, such as chemotherapy
- living with obesity, such as having a body mass index (BMI) of 40 or higher

Vaccination is one of the most effective ways to protect our families, communities and ourselves against COVID-19. Evidence indicates that vaccines are effective at preventing serious outcomes, such as severe illness, hospitalization and death due to COVID-19. A growing body of evidence indicates that people fully vaccinated with an mRNA vaccine (Pfizer-BioNTech and Moderna) are less likely to have a symptomatic infection or to transmit COVID-19 to others.
