Chemistry Research Internship Program (CRISP)

What are Chemistry Research Internships?

These internships are for high school students who enrol in Chemistry or Biochemistry programs at the University of Windsor. Internships pay a total of $3,000 over three years.

What does CRISP involve?

CRISP students join a research laboratory, and work with professors and graduate students on a research project. The student works 35 hours per term, and must maintain a GPA of 75% or higher.

What are the benefits?

CRISP students receive personalized training, and are exposed to research, technologies and skills that are way beyond standard chemistry curricula in North America. This will strongly impact future applications for professional schools, graduate schools and employment.

What are the entry requirements?

A minimum high school GPA of 75% is required.

Who is eligible?

If you have chosen Chemistry or Biochemistry at the University of Windsor, and you meet the entry requirements above, you are eligible to apply.

How do I apply?

Fill out the form on the second page of this document. It may be filled out and submitted electronically, along with accompanying materials, to chembiohead@uwindsor.ca or by regular mail to:
